

Roxanne Chepsongol - Division Director | New Mexico Department of Agriculture Standards and Consumer Services

Roxanne Chepsongol is the New Mexico Department of Agriculture's Division Director of weights and measures located in Las Cruces, New Mexico. Her passion for working with industry and consumers stems from her agricultural background growing up on a dairy farm. Roxanne is devoted to serving the consumers of New Mexico through regulatory compliance, industry relationships and building up her inspector team for success. Roxanne is inspired daily by her husband and their two children, together they own and operate a small homestead operation in rural Dona Ana County. In her free time, she enjoys farming, gardening, hiking, volunteering with 4-H and spending time at the lake with her family.